

Don't find out about these obligations after-the-fact through a PUC complaint. Let TMI help you stay on top of notice requirements.

Recurring Customer Notice Requirements

TMI's Recurring Customer Notice Requirements, the only publication of its kind, assists telecom providers in managing their obligations for ongoing customer notice.

The interactive features of this publication include:

- Comprehensive, detailed listing of current recurring end-user notice requirements
- Information about frequency of notice, how notice must be given, and specific text requirements.
- Sorting capabilities by region, state, carrier type, issue, and frequency of notification

Covering areas such as:

- Consumer Rights
- TRS
- Bill Itemization
- PC Freezes
- Do-Not-Call

Don't find out about these obligations after-the-fact through a PUC complaint. Use our publication to stay on top of your notice obligations. Plan your notices ahead of time instead of adding them at the last minute.

Recurring Customer Notice Requirements are updated on a near real-time basis.

TMI's Recurring Customer Notice Requirements is useful for regulatory personnel, customer service, and billing organizations.
